

RadioBrowser Take-Home Submission

Summary details requested for the interview take-home project.

|                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Repository link              | https://github.com/murilloarturo/radio_browser                                                                                                                                       |
| Platform to compile the code | iOS and Android. The app is a Flutter mobile app targeting both platforms. Android debug APK and iOS profile builds were verified during development; iOS profile mode was used on a physical iPhone because of a Flutter/iOS 26 debug JIT issue. |
| Time to complete the test    | Approximately 5 hours 20 minutes, based on the repository history from the initial project work.                                                                                                                                                  |

Generated from the local RadioBrowser repository.